

Stick 'n' Release Tape

Whether you cut up the original pattern or photocopy it, you need to stick a pattern onto your wood.

Scroll Saw "Stick 'n' Release" Tape was developed to leave little or no burning on your cut lines. It also leaves little or no residue on the wood face after removal within one week.

There's nothing else like it!

All you do is apply the 8-1/2" wide tape to your wood. Then peel the protective paper from the back side and apply your pattern to the exposed adhesive. Now go ahead and cut to your heart's content knowing the pattern cleanup will be a breeze!

Use "Stick 'n' Release" Tape...

patterns stay put and are easy to remove - leaving no residue!

- 8-1/2" x 20 ft Roll #HS1401

1. Apply and trim to fit the wood and pattern being cut. Properly applied tape will show no air bubbles except for where the grain is naturally open.

2. Remove the protective backer from tape slowly & carefully. If tape begins to lift from the wood, press the backer down and re-rub the tape onto the wood.

3. Apply trimmed pattern to exposed tape following desired grain direction.

4. Rub pattern down well. Be sure to avoid wrinkles or air bubbles under the pattern.

5. After cutting desired profiles (not shown here) carefully remove pattern remnants and tape from wood surface (pattern will be cut to pieces where ever you followed lines with your scroll saw.)

6. A smooth even pull will remove all adhesive leaving no adhesive residue on the wood surface.
